

Rental terms and conditions for test equipment

For testing purposes, Walther Systemtechnik GmbH (WS DE) provides you with suitable equipment from our product range according to the following terms:

1. The test equipment will be at your disposal for a period of time defined in our offer. The rental fee depends on the equipment scope as well as on the rental period. The rental period is measured including transport time. If you do not return the equipment to us within 2 weeks after the rental period has expired, you will automatically receive an invoice about the retail price of the equipment. An extension of the rental period might be possible if agreed with us beforehand.
2. A test yielding positive results obliges you to purchase the test device. In case you received used equipment for your tests, it will be exchanged for new equipment as soon as possible.
3. If the test did not yield the expected results, the test equipment has to be cleaned and returned to WS DE undamaged and at your own expense.
4. If the test device arrives at our premises uncleaned and/or damaged, it will be restored at your expense. You will be charged with the costs for any spare parts, repairs, cleaning etc.
5. You are obliged to insure the test equipment for the duration of the testing period; furthermore, the equipment must remain in your property and may not be subleased or lent to third parties.
6. You will be held liable for any damage caused to the test equipment by improper use or disregard of the operating conditions and safety regulations.
7. Invoices are payable according to the respective payment terms.

If you are not based in Europe:

Any customs charges for the test equipment will be charged to you.

The aforementioned rental terms and conditions are deemed accepted with the acceptance the test equipment.

April 2023